FEBRUARY 2006

Mary Jo Kavjian .... President's Message

It is hard to believe that we are at the 100th day of school. Although I have been enjoying the unusually warm weather, I think winter is finally here – maybe we will even see some snow soon.

The auction is almost a distant memory. The hard work and generous bidding of so many of you made it possible to reach the budgeted goal of $25,000. Thanks to all of you who played a part in making that happen. A portion of that income was used to purchase items from the Principal's wish list. Please check the website in a few weeks to review the February PTA meeting minutes to see what was approved.

The next big fundraiser is the carnival. The carnival is not only a fundraiser but also a great time for the children and parents to enjoy themselves. Please sign up to work a shift at your class booth/game. You will be receiving information soon from your class booth coordinator. All we are asking is for one hour of your time. Check the Tuesday Folder each week for all the latest information.

The County has announced this year's recipients of the Outstanding Interpretation Awards for the Reflections Program. I am pleased to announce that Joshua Smoot and Sarah Smoot have both been chosen to have their photography entries sent to the state level. Sarah's entry in the visual arts category finished in third place. Brette McPhilomy and Tessa Heller both received second place awards for their literature entries. Congratulations to all of you.

I invite you to come to the monthly PTA meetings. It's never too late to get involved. We meet the first Wednesday of the month in the library beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Message from the Mantua Principal's Office

During the past quarter, Mantua, along with all other schools in FCPS, completed their School Improvement Plan. This year our plans were required to be two-years in length and had to have a continued focus on student achievement in four core areas: Math, Language Arts, History/Social Science and Science. At Mantua, we are committed to addressing the needs of the whole child; therefore, our School Plan establishes objectives for all aspects of our school program.

All grade level teams and specialist teams were involved in determining the School Plan objectives through analysis of their students' formal and informal assessments to determine areas of need. Our School Plan focuses on specific objectives in the following areas: reading readiness skills, reading non-fiction material, writing in the content areas, compacted math, use of visual images for Social Studies, and review of Science strands for fifth grade. Additional objectives encourage our students to make connections between classroom curriculum and areas studied through the Arts and through languages, to develop healthy living habits and to demonstrate understanding of Boyer's Core Virtues.

We have established lofty goals for ourselves and your children. Parental support is essential to meet these goals. Many of our parents of our younger children are doing this with their follow-through in the Bag of Books Program, reading to their children and by practicing math skills. It is extremely helpful for parents to actively check with their children regarding homework, supplies and organization of their work. Establishing a set place in your home where your child completes homework and leaves their schoolbag for the next day is very useful. Encouraging and expecting an appropriate level of responsible follow-through on tasks by your child(ren) is also an essential precursor to becoming a successful adult.

Some specific suggestions on how you can support development of your children's writing skills are taken from Reports to Parents:

Make time for writing just as you need to make time for reading.

Have the tools on hand, like pen and paper, a special notebook, or a home computer with word processing programs.

Write in front of your children because children learn what they experience.

Make a big deal about their writing successes by praising and displaying what they have accomplished.

Make a book using pictures with captions or short stories.

Our children are technologically savvy – but remember while IMs are quick and fun they do nothing to help children become a better writer. E-mails are better because they allow time and space for children to express themselves.

Check out a wonderful Internet site geared for children. (www.writingfix.com/forkids.htm)

Keep an eye on the weekly Alert News, which will have additional suggestions from the administration in each of the other objective areas within Mantua's School Plan.
